“ I wish to send late condolences to Dr. Chakrabarty's family upon his passing. He was one who believed in my potential and gave me opportunity to grow and develop as a scientist. I will never forget his reaching down to me to help me even as I had little confidence. He was kind and good hearted and I am the better from having worked as a researcher in his lab.

“ I am saddened by the sudden death of my friend Ananda. He was a kind and gentle man and always ready to help others. I spent 2 months in his lab and had a return visit in Brussels from his students. We had a long-term collaboration with Gunny (I.C. Gunsalus) in the creation of ICGEB in Trieste. I miss him dearly.

“ Dr Chakrabarty was instrumental to George Washington University Law School's outreach to India. He went with us to India on a number of occasions and also presented a distinguished lecture at GW Law. He was always helpful and cheerful. Thank you, sir, for your many contributions.

“ I am a patent lawyer in Chicago, and I had the honor and pleasure of working with Dr. Chakrabarty late in his life as part of his effort to correct the Supreme Court's mistakes in relatively recent (2012-2016) decisions that undermined the historic law defining patentable subject matter. He was not only a gentle, kind, and very smart man, but also a giant inventor figure in the history of patent law. Daniel A. Boehnen

“ It was always nice to meet him and discuss my Research for the past 9 years in Golpark India. He is still alive in the hearts of many researchers he groomed and helped. He has been a real inspiration for my research interest in microbial mechanisms. I hope his soul rest in peace.
